Juvenile Probation

A Collaborative Effort

ERC is a collaborative effort designed to work closely with schools, juvenile probation, parents / families and other community human service providers

SCHOOLS:

- Program staff visit the home schools of the clients in an effort to establish working relationships with the institutions
- School attendance, behaviors and grades are monitored
- Schools are encouraged to provide daily homework for the youth to complete at the program. If no homework provided, the program provides appropriate grade level assignments / exercises

FAMILY:

- Attempts are made to engage the family at time of admission to provide program introduction and gather background information
- Family contacts are made to monitor client behavior in the home
- Family is encouraged to contact program staff with any questions / concerns they may have

OTHER PROVIDERS

- Probation utilizes community human service providers to perform various court ordered assessments and as possible aftercare providers for youth that remain in the community

PROBATION OFFICERS

- Presence at the facility during program hours is encouraged
- Visibility of probation officers is important in establishing a service milieu in which a united team approach is presented
- Probation Officer is considered a member of the service team and open dialogue is recommended
- Drug testing is provided by probation and can be performed on-site
